Biography

Another one of the younger members of the team, the 22-year-old Belgian gritted through a long season to prove she deserved her shot at the top. Not only was she a great help in stage races such as the Emakumeen Bira in Spain and the Giro d'Italia in Italy, she pulled off a victory in the Erondegem race in her native Belgium. A solid all-rounder, she rode to the bronze medal in the Belgian national time trial championship to cap a fine rookie season. For 2010, she will continue to bump elbows in the peloton as she searches for her place in the pecking order.
