Biography

The veteran Aussie sprinter proved his worth throughout the season, working in the trenches for captain Thor Hushovd as well as providing a strong kick in the bunch sprints. The ex-trackie was rock solid throughout the year, helping the team take victories at the Volta a Catalunya and the Tour de France. A winner in his own right, Lancaster sacrificed his chances so that the likes of Hushovd and Heinrich Haussler had better chances to win. The exemplary pro will continue to be one of the blocks the team is built around in 2010.
