Biography

The Brit was rock solid in his first season among the elite professional ranks. A stalwart on the British Isles road scene, the 29-year-old delighted in racing the top events on the European calendar. He provided key support in such important races as the spring classics and the Giro d'Italia. He also notched a few results of his own, securing fourth overall at the Tour of Qatar, a silver medal in the British national road race and a top-20 at his native Tour of Britain. Lloyd will continue on his adventure in the European peloton for 2010 with more of the same.

Product development goal for 2010:

I love working with Castelli on the clothing. Having great kit makes training and racing so much more enjoyable. Castelli already do the best kit I've ever used, but they are always keen to make small improvements to fit, aerodynamics and comfort.

Personal cycling goal for 2010:

---

Help somebody from the team win Milan–San Remo and/or the Tour of Flanders.

Personal career highlight:

Crossing the line in Rome at the end of the Giro, with my family there, and just being part of a fantastic team that took four wins in the three weeks. Riding on the front every day at the Tour of Qatar with the whole team was another great feeling.

How and when did you begin riding?

I started MTBing in 1993 after I got interested in it through a magazine.

When did you know you wanted to be a pro?

---

When I first started watching the Tour de France, in the Indurain era, I knew I wanted to be a part of that.

What was the proudest moment in your life?

Dropping Jez (Jérémy Hunt) on a descent in the Giro!

Why do you want to be part of Cervélo TestTeam?

---

They have the best bikes and equipment, and a great team atmosphere.

Favorite cycling moment:

Erik Dekker outfoxing everybody at the end of Paris–Tours, even after being in the breakaway all day.

What do you want to do after your career in cycling?

---

I'd like to stay in cycling, maybe in some kind of coaching role.

Cycling tip for the average rider:

If it's not your job, above everything else you should enjoy it.
